THE PROPERTY

With an abundance of characterful features throughout, the ground floor accommodation has been cleverly thought out to create practical yet sociable spaces to be enjoyed by all. Of most recent extension is the main drawing room that takes benefit from triple aspect windows to both maximise natural light and the views across the surrounding countryside, whilst maintaining a cosy atmosphere centred around the exposed fireplace. A kitchen breakfast room features plentiful work surface and storage solutions, including a separate walk-in pantry cupboard, whilst bi-folding doors lead to the patio making for an idyllic eating area. Providing flexibility to the accommodation is the second reception room, currently utilised as an office.

The principal bedroom is a fantastic suite that occupies the extension to the first floor along with an en-suite shower room and built in storage with the two remaining bedrooms found within the original footprint of the cottage. Exposed beam and stone work is prevalent throughout the cottage, including within the family bathroom which concludes the home.

OUTSIDE

Externally, the home continues to impress with an attractive, wrap around garden consisting of established lawn, mature shrubbery and vibrant, colourful planting all enclosed by an established hedgerow for privacy. The garden further consists of two cedar greenhouses, a pleasant patio and access into a single garage with a further store room, with utilities, positioned to the rear of the garage.
